The Hessian fly situation has never been so bad as this spring, due to a mild winter which has been extremely favorable to insect increase.

The May fields of wheat are infested with chinch bugs which are now laying their eggs.

The Review

CHILDREN SHOULD NOT DISTURB COMMENCEMENT

For a number of years the commencement speaker and patrons of our school have been annoyed at the closing program of our graduation exercises by a number of small boys and girls who sit together, generally on or near the front row and disturb the speaker and audience by rattling chains, whispering and laughing.

This year children under twelve years of age will not be permitted to sit together in such manner. Parents will be expected to see that the children make no disturbances.

THE REVIEW DISCONTINUED UNTIL NEXT SEPTEMBER

This is the last week that the High School will contribute material to the local papers. School duties are almost over; at least active class room activities will have been completed before another week. We hope you have enjoyed the brief sketches each week. The purpose of the reports was to give you in a few words some idea of the content of discussion in each class from week to week. The reports have not been humorous or entertaining. We did not endeavor to entertain you; if we had we should have misrepresented the high scholastic work carried on in the various departments.

The Staff wishes to thank the editors of the local papers for their interest and cooperation in helping to make our school Review a success. The Review is discontinued until next September.

DON'T FAIL TO SEE

OSCAR MONDAY NIGHT

In biology we are studying leaves, but as you know or should know, that leaves come from trees and that they are green, I am going to tell you about "Oscar" our pet crayfish. We have had "Oscar" all winter and he has behaved well. We found him near the edge of Mt. Pulaski. A few weeks ago he shed his exoskeleton. As he committed this deed in the evening, I nor any of the class, witnessed it. Every year crayfish shed their exoskeleton. If "Oscar" would have been out in the timber he would have died until he had grown a new one. "Oscar" ate his exoskeleton to get lime for his next exoskeleton. We feed "Oscar" cream of wheat and raw meat. He devours the cream of wheat instantly. Every one come to open house Monday 30 and see "Oscar."

INTERESTING ORAL REPORTS IN FRENCH CAUSE CONFUSION

And one more week of French! One more week of school; and then — all is over. Some are glad! Some are sad! We, the French I and French II classes, regret very much that we shall not have Miss Vose with us next year. We, in her classes, as well as everyone else, liked her very much, and appreciated a lot, her most willing assistance to us at all times.

Of course we're reviewing for the semester exams. But one day the French II class did something else. We had to give oral reports in French. Reports of every variety were given. Some described objects in the school building; some described the all glorious season, spring; others gave current events. One industrious Senior spoke of Commencement, and the importance of the Class of '32; how good they were, and so on. Another gave an account of the Track Meet held recently; how Monsieur Freeston threw the discus such a great distance, that it was found in Lincoln, Illinois after a great amount of searching. Although we were unable to understand these most interesting reports at first, after much repetition, the main idea of them was conveyed to our minds.

LATIN CLASSES PAY TRIBUTE TO MISS VOSE

Latin is over. We have completed our second year of this dead language and are now ready to set Caesar and his Wars aside. In this last issue, I should like to make my report a tribute to Miss Vose.

To Miss Vose goes our deepest appreciation for her knowledge of Latin and the way in which she handed it down to us. Her patience and her ever-present enthusiasm have lifted us from the seat of ignorance to the throne of knowledge in this language field.

It is with saddened hearts that we see Miss Vose sifted from our midst. She leaves with us only fond memories of her past class rooms, every one of which was a total enjoyment.

I am sure that every member of this class holds her as one of his best teachers and in the future it will be with great pride that we are able to say "we learned our use of the Latin language from Miss Vose."

BOYS ALL READY FOR SUMMER HOUSE BUILDING

During this semester the boys have learned to sharpen tools; to name and give the uses of each; to square up lap, dovetail lap, blind mortise-and-gains, rabbit, dowel, end lap, cross stock; to glue properly; to cut dados; tenon, thru mortise-and-tenon, slip and dovetail joints. Most of the boys have used the lathe. They learned how to apply a transparent wood finish.

The information will be useful at home to make articles and to repair old ones.

The final examination will be taken Thursday. Most of the projects are done. The projects will be exhibited in the Gymnasium next Monday evening.

HISTORY CLASS BREATHES SIGHS OF RELIEF AND REGRET

This is the last American History! There are both sighs of regret and sighs of relief, but mostly the former. Nobody in our history class can truly say he didn't enjoy it and learn a lot.

Having finished our set of twenty quizzes, we are now struggling along with the order of the presidents and their parties. The semester exam, will be on Thursday morning.

But before leaving this class, we must express our appreciation for the wonderful attention given us by the Coach, our teacher.

DON'T FAIL TO INSPECT GEOMETRY PROJECT MONDAY

Of course you're coming down Open House Night to the school. Don't overlook the Mathematics room. You'll find it most interesting, I am sure. The Plane Geometry students have had notebooks, illustrating various things such as—Mathematics, in the home and interior; Mathematics, in building, in Nature, and so on. You have no idea how much Mathematics is used until after having looked at these illustrations. Some graphs, and colored geometric design, are also to be displayed. So if you want some information on geometry just drop in any time Monday evening, and find out anything you wish.

BAND AND ORCHESTRA READY FOR CONCERT

The High School Band and Orchestra are getting ready for the program to be given Monday evening May 30. These two organizations have improved very much in their work due to the interest of the pupils and the hard work of the director.

Band practices were held on Tuesday evening of each week and orchestra, on Wednesday evenings.

The orchestra has played at programs during the school term while the band has given around basketball played at a given in our
